AMERICAN OFFICERS' INN ATTRACTS MANY

(By Associated Press.)
London, March 5.—The lowest and most attractive inn in London for American officers is called the American Officers' Inn and stands in Cavendish Square, one of the most fashionable districts in the city. The inn is owned by the American Y. M. C. A. and is directly across the square from the American Consulate. The inn was formerly occupied by Sir H. H. Russell, a member of parliament who was on the point of selling it when he heard that the Americans wanted it and he sold it to them. The inn, which is a four-story typical English town house with large rooms and high ceilings, was formerly occupied by the American Consul, but the latter day when it was inspected by several hundred of the leading Americans in England and others. These included Viscount Jellicoe, formerly British ambassador at Washington; the Earl of Halifax, the Countess of Reading, wife of the new special ambassador to the United States; Lord Curzon, British ambassador in Paris; and others widely known on both sides of the Atlantic. A feature was the attendance of a group of veterans of the American civil war, now living in England.

The house has been attractively furnished by the American Y. M. C. A. and is a fine place for a luncheon or a dinner. It is managed by a committee of American officers, including Lady Warr, daughter of the late American ambassador, Whitlaw Reid; Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. C. G. Cecil; Mrs. H. H. Russell, and others.

One of the features of the inn is the fact that it is a place where American officers can find a home. It is a place where they can find a home, a place where they can find a home, a place where they can find a home.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR RUNAWAY BOY
Chief of Police Peter D. Champion started on a "boy hunt" this morning to find Edward Russell, who left his home at 212 East Street yesterday afternoon and has not been seen since. It is thought that he went to Beloit where he has a sister. When last seen, according to the investigation, he was wearing a blue coat and a blue hat. He is twelve years old, and when he last wore a pair of blue overalls, gray mackinaw and a blue cap.

YOUNG ITALIAN GETS FIVE YEAR SENTENCE

JOE STELLO PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER, AND IS SENTENCED TO WAUPUN FOR FIVE YEARS.

OTHER CASES FINISHED

Jack Cronin Placed Under Board of Control.—Higgins Released to Go to Work.—Two Other Cases Continued Over.

Upon his plea of guilty late yesterday afternoon to the charge of manslaughter in the second degree, Joe Stello, Beloit Italian, was sentenced by Judge Grimm to five years in the state prison at Waupun. He will be taken to the prison tomorrow morning by Sheriff Whipple.

Stello's conviction for the killing of Jasper Lombardo was a surprise as many were of the opinion that he would plead not guilty and demand a trial by jury. District Attorney Durand, after an investigation of the case, decided that it would be impossible to convict Stello of first degree murder, and that the killing of Jasper Lombardo was a case of manslaughter.

Defendant's Story. S. R. Rindel, attorney for Stello, told the court that the defendant was a young Italian, about 25 years of age, who was living in Beloit. He was a member of the Italian community and was known to many of the residents of the city.

Stello was charged with the killing of Jasper Lombardo, a young man who was living in Beloit. The killing took place on the night of December 16, 1917, and was the result of a quarrel between the two men.

FORM ORGANIZATION FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

"Altogether Meeting" Held at Baptist Church Last Evening—Roy Keller, Jr. Elected President.

The young people of the three churches who have been holding services at the Baptist church had an "altogether meeting" in the parlors of the Baptist church on last evening. The meeting was held for the purpose of organizing a young people's association for work and as such was announced as the first annual meeting of the "Young People's Association of Janesville."

An election of officers resulted in the following list: President, Roy Keller, Jr.; vice-president, Ruth Rowley; secretary, Marion Durr; and treasurer, Roy Keller, Jr. The chairman of the nominating committee, being Leon Jones. A splendid address was given by the young people by Mr. Keller, who said that he was a member of the association and that he was proud to be a part of it.

The program of the evening was preceded by a most delicious supper, served at long tables by Mrs. Rowley. The tables were very prettily decorated. About 125 were served. At the post prandial program, Roy Keller, Jr. officiated with song and prayer. His remarks were very helpful and encouraging.

The following toasts were given, each one being clever and bringing out many original ideas: "Our Girls," Maurice Russell; "Our Boys," Malcolm Mout; "The Congregationalists," Sydney Bliss; "The Baptists," Mildred Smith; and "The Presbyterians," Marion Decker.

The toasts were given with splendid effect and were really worth while, so that the older people who were present felt that there was a splendid body of young people being organized for service, and that it would make a force to be reckoned with in the upbuilding of the city.

Some interesting figures have been compiled by H. H. Faust, superintendent of schools, on the enrollment of children in the graded and high schools of the city during the months of September and October of the years 1916, 1917 and 1918.

TOURNAMENT BEGINS TOMORROW; ENTRIES ARE COMING IN FAST

Aracadia Club Check, Five Will Open
Meet Tomorrow Night—Rockford Has Entered Six Teams.

Entries to the Southern Wisconsin Bowling tournament at the West Side alley are coming in fast. Rockford has entered six teams, Watertown has entered three, while a score of other cities have entered at least one squad each. Janesville will be represented by a number of teams, some of which ought to win some of the high prizes.

The tournament was scheduled to begin yesterday, but owing to the competition which always results during the first few days of any tournament, the first games will not be rolled until tomorrow evening, when a crack team from the Aracadia club of this city will get under way. From the beginning of the games tomorrow until the close of the meet March 25th there will not be a dull moment, and the tournament will no doubt be a highly successful one. Local bowling fans are manifesting much enthusiasm and interest in running high. Three match games were rolled at the alley last night. Taylor's Grocers were defeated by Rooting's squad by a margin of 124 pins. Prox was high man with 187. Baumann's Colts fell before the onslaughts of the West Side No. 1 five and were defeated by 114 pins in a well rolled game. High score was rolled by Robbins with 223. The final free delivery postman's squad won from the best of ten quintet by a margin of 143 pins. Baumann scored 225 for high score.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, March 6.—W. G. Atwell was called to Evans Point the last of the week. The house occupied by his mother burned nearly to the ground. The furniture in the lower part of the house was saved, but everything in the upper stories was destroyed. Mrs. Greedy of Huntington, Ind., is a guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Stewart.

Henry Swift, who fell while at work at the Eisenlohr warehouse last week, is resting quite comfortably. He injured his hip in his fall and it has not yet been determined whether the hip is fractured.

J. J. Leary and Willis Scofield were among those released by Judge Grimm yesterday from jury service. Henry Taylor will serve on the jury at the regular term of the circuit court.

The war fund drive is progressing most satisfactorily in the city. Every one seems to be waiting for their solicitor to find out what their share will be. In several cases the amounts were so small as compared with the amounts previously donated for the same cause that the parties increased their donations considerably. The results obtained in the city should be indeed gratifying to the captains and helpers in charge of the drive.

Tobacco is coming to the market in great quantities during the week and the latter deliveries are in much better condition than those made earlier in the season. The extreme cold weather dried the wet tobacco considerably. Growers are already making plans for the new crop to be planted and it is expected that the scarcity of labor will materially cut the acreage of tobacco the coming season.

F. W. Jensen is a Capitol City business caller today. Henry Rothe, state senator from Grant county, called at the home of Mrs. E. Rothe in the city the last of the week.

Frank Schmelling departed last evening for Mitchell, S. D., where he intends to make his future home. Mrs. W. W. Miller of Iron Mountain, Mich., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Miller in the city. The Young Ladies' Knitting club met at the home of Miss Helen Coon last evening.

J. J. Leary was a business caller at Madison today. Fred Grauberg has a position offered him in Madison at the university.

Miss Hazel Nichols of Stoughton, called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Skinner last evening. The Girls' Dramatic society of the high school will give a play at the high school on Monday evening. The play is entitled "Breezy Point." The girls have put considerable work in the play under the direction of Miss Connors and an amusing and pleasing entertainment is promised.

The high school basketball team will not go to Whitewater to enter the tournament, but will go to the Milton tournament to be held next week. It is not definitely known just what teams will compete at the Milton tournament, but Stoughton and Edgerton teams will have a chance to play off the games that have been played this winter.

Twenty land-seekers from this section, including eleven from Edgerton, left last evening for San Benito, Texas. Among those from this city were: Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fox, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McCarthy, Thomas Pierce, Jerry Murphy and J. Schumacher. D. W. North, who organized the party, accompanied them as far as Beloit. The party had the use of a special train from Evans Junction. They expect to be absent on the trip ten days.

Milton News

Milton March 6.—The "Your Share Is Fair" war fund drive was successfully launched at Milton at a meeting held Monday evening in the village hall. The chief speakers were Rev. Melrose and M. O. Moutat both of Janesville. Rev. Melrose made an effective appeal to those present to measure up to responsibilities in the nation. Mr. Moutat very clearly explained the details of the system and urged that all present act as missionaries to gain the co-operation of every citizen in order that the success of the drive might be insured. The meeting was enthusiastic, the speakers being frequently applauded. Rev. R. S. Scott, J. N. Deland and L. C. Randolph also spoke briefly on the subject. Selections by the village band were heartily enjoyed. Grant W. Davis of Milton presided.

H. Pieters has been visiting his son and daughter at Battle Creek, Mich. Miss Stephana Deland has gone to Rush where she has accepted a library position.

Mrs. S. W. Clarke and son returned to her home at Independence, N. Y., Monday.

Frank W. Cartwright, formerly a resident here, who served three years in the navy, has re-enlisted in the torpedo branch of the service.

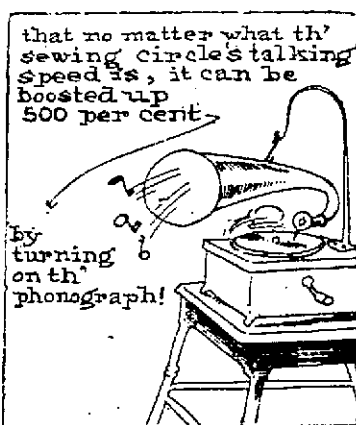

This village will soon be off the water wagon.

Miss Genevieve Avers was taken to Mercy Hospital Monday for an appendicitis operation.

I. A. Davis is confined to the lounge with an attack of la grippe. The War Fund solicitors under the direction of Captain Davis began their labors here Tuesday morning and we know of none who are refusing to "do their bit."

Lee Van Horn from Garwin, Iowa, was in town Tuesday on his way to his farm at Exeland.

Evansville News

Evansville, March 6.—Several hundred citizens were awakened about five o'clock yesterday morning by a terrific noise, resembling an explosion. Many who were awake at the time, and others, farmers especially, who were up and out of doors, say that the sound was preceded by a great flash of reddish, greenish light that did not resemble lightning, first, because of its color, and secondly because it lasted longer, for it was a streak of light in the heavens, rather than a flash. This was followed by the terrific sound which fairly jarred the walls of the buildings. As it is natural in these unsettled times, when everyone's minds, consciously or unconsciously are filled with thoughts of war, those who heard the tumult immediately thought of something here had been blown up.

Chief of Police, Fred W. Gillman, was among those awakened, and seeing the light, first thought some one was flashing flash-lights about the residence. Then when the report followed, he jumped from the bed, thinking that some of the local banks had been immediately thought of. He went to the telephone, calling up the night operator at the central office, but found that nothing of the nature had happened in the business district. During the forenoon yesterday, telephone inquiries were received here from Madison, Stoughton, Albany and Brodhead, asking about the disturbance, for it was heard also in those cities. It was thought that it was caused by the blowing up of a munition plant many miles away, that news of would be gathered throughout the day. As none came, however, it is the opinion of many men who saw the phenomenon, that it was the fall of a meteor. One man who is well versed on that subject, and who was out of doors, and saw the object, is confident that it was the explosion of a meteor. Had it not been so foggy yesterday morning, it could have been much better observed. It is said that train men between Beloit and here, observed the phenomenon. The guests of honor, the Woman's Literary Club, who were entertained by the Tourist club, at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Eager, Monday evening, are loud in their praise of "Lohengrin," as presented by members of the club. Every part of the play was splendidly presented, and everyone taking part left nothing to be desired, either in presentation or detail. The costumes were very pretty. The guests felt that they were highly entertained, and so fine was the play that it should be given so that the public might see it.

Sixty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moore surprised them recently at their farm home before they moved to their new home on a farm recently purchased by them. The evening was spent at cards and dancing and later a bountiful supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Moore have purchased the Frank Dowse farm and are now located there.

Miss Nellie Both Biglow and Lillian Siebert entertained about twenty young people Monday evening in honor of Miss Rebecca Stewart, who is moving from Evansville to make Rockford her home. The guests assembled at the Walter Biglow home on South First street where the time was spent in dancing. As the supper hour approached the guests were escorted to the R. C. Shoen home on Lincoln street where delicious refreshments were served. The guests

We hear that our boys
(And our hearts they rejoice)
Have gone "across" today.
But there's a many a heart
That is sorrowing apart
And lonely for aught we can say.
For our boys they are dear,
To all far and near,
And we all wish to claim a share
Of knowing the men

For our boys soon will be

That they did not stop

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am in love with a fellow not of my own religion. My mother will not allow me to go with him and so I have decided to meet him at the street corner. I just hate to meet him there, because I don't know what he will think of me. I am afraid to tell him the reason he can't come to my home because he might quit coming to see me. What shall I do?

(2) If I leave home do you think my mother can force me to come back? I am of age. I am going to my mother and she knows it, and I don't want to leave home, because I have a good one. I can't do what I want to in going with a fellow. I believe I will have to leave home. I don't know what will become of me if I do. What do you advise me to do?

IN TROUBLE.
(1) If you are twenty years old or more you ought to be old enough to use your own judgment. Do not disagree with your mother. If she is the only one who is going to let the boy come to your home because she does not approve of his religion and has no objection to his coming, you are justified in going with him.

(2) Do not leave your home. It would be unwise to show the boy that you care so much for him. If you let him come to your home because of the difference in your religions he will probably be all the more eager to be with you and will plan ways to see you. Do not show him in any way that you are afraid of losing him, because if he sees your fear and lack of confidence he is apt to assume your mental attitude and think too that he does not love you enough to go with you in spite of your mother's opposition.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you suggest something that will whiten and soften my hands. They are always red and the least bit of housework roughens them. I have tried cold cream or vaseline applied nightly and wearing old gloves at night but they are still red.

Make a hand lotion of two ounces of bay rum, one ounce of glycerine, twenty drops of carbolic acid and enough good perfume to destroy the odor of the carbolic acid. The cold cream or vaseline would help, but would be greasy, whereas the above lotion will have the desired effect if applied whenever you notice that your hands are getting red.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am sixteen years old. Am I too young to go to dances if my mother does not object?

Is it all right for me to bring a fellow into the house after nine o'clock?

I think you are too young. (1) I think you are too young to entertain boys after nine o'clock. (2) Is it all right for me to bring a fellow into the house after nine o'clock?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When going to a chop suey cafe, if one should have a chop suey, how should he eat it? Should he eat it from the dish in which it is served or take it on his service plate?

He should put some of the rice on his plate and the chop suey over it.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

Loud applause at the theatre is in very bad taste. Never shuffle the feet nor tramp them, nor whistle or shout, however enthusiastic you may be.

Mrs. D.: In most hotels there is a small parlor near the main entrance for the use of women, or there are chairs especially placed for them at one side of the lobby where they can wait while their husbands go to the desk and register. In small hotels these conveniences are sometimes lacking, and in such a case a wife had better accompany her husband to the desk. When departing from a hotel it is always best to ring for a bellboy or porter to remove one's luggage from the room since it is a rule in many hotels for the elevator boys not to admit a passenger to the elevator who is carrying luggage. This is, of course, to prevent guests from leaving without paying their bill.

Della: A lady's visiting card ought always to contain her address as well as her name. It is usually placed in the upper left hand corner of the card. A business woman should have a separate business card.

WILL PICK UNIFORM FOR WOMEN WORKERS
Madison, Wis., March 6.—So many requests have come into the woman's committee, state council of defense, which is in charge of the selection of uniforms for women workers that a committee has been appointed to investigate and report on the feasibility of recommending a uniform for women workers. The committee is composed of Mrs. J. H. Schmitt, president of the women's committee, and Mrs. J. H. Schmitt, president of the women's committee.

Household Hints
PICKLED CUCUMBERS.—Wash and scrape cucumbers, cook in salted water until tender, then cut in pieces of convenient size and cover with hot vinegar, which may be sweetened and spiced if liked. Let stand in this vinegar two days before using.

BREAD PUDDING.—One cup stale bread crumbs, one-half cup milk, one-half cup water. Heat the milk and water to boiling point, add crumbs, then set aside to cool while you mix three teaspoons clear corn syrup, one egg, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one-third cup butter. Mix all together and add to milk and bread, only folding in. Bake in buttered pudding pan one hour in slow oven. You may mix your butter before mixing in the pudding pan, having your pan buttered and making the butter more easy to mix. White vanilla sauce to serve with pudding: One tablespoon corn syrup, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon vanilla, all mixed well, one-half cup boiling water added and cooked until thick.

CORNED BEEF.—Put one pound corned beef in a large pot, add two cups cornmeal and boil in salted water (stirring constantly to keep smooth) till thoroughly cooked, then remove from fire and let stand while you fry one-half pound sausage in lard; then stir sausage into corned beef and pour into mold. Let stand till cold, then slice and fry in lard.

Home Dried Corn.—Soak over night two cups dried corn; parboil three times; each time add cold water and bring to a boil. Drain, add two cups well browned bread crumbs, three cups hot milk, butter size of egg dissolved in hot milk, salt, pepper to taste. Bake in moderate oven one and one-half to two hours.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. The hair is scalp makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

NATHANIEL POLYCODDLE'S INVENTIONS.
Nathaniel Polycoddle, the famous inventor, sat in his study listening to the dust, falling and turning over in his mind the various inventions which had made him what he was. One by one he reviewed his offerings to humanity—the collapsible cooking clock, the jumping cuspidor, the reversible under shirt and other labor saving devices. Then his masterly intellect turned itself upon the intricacies of his next ordering, designed especially for the boys in the trenches—the marvelous combination periscope, which at a moment's notice could be turned into a toasting fork or a sandwich.

Suddenly a shrill scream rent the air. Nathaniel Polycoddle sprang to his feet, tugging at the belt on his distinguished brow. Into the study burst Marcella Polycoddle, presenting a moving spectacle of excitement. "Nathaniel," she moaned, "all is lost! The fire is out! What shall I do?"

But the great inventor was a man of true grandeur. "Marcella," he rejoined, "it is in these terrible crises that our keenest faculties are aroused. The fire is out, you say? Then I will invent a way to light it. Marcella moaned again. Her distress was terrible. "But the coal is out also," she sobbed.

Nathaniel Polycoddle was annoyed. "This is not clever, Marcella," he said. "If there is no coal, I cannot invent a way to build the fire. You must obtain some coal." Marcella, "Mr. Garfield has dictated away all the coal, and the children have cried."

MORE NURSES NEEDED FOR RED CROSS WORK
(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Washington, March 6.—The American Red Cross wants able-bodied American women to go to France as nurses.

THE PRESENT ENROLLMENT OF 1,000 nurses a month, the Red Cross announced, has become insufficient. Recruiting must be immediately stimulated. Between 30,000 and 40,000 nurses will be required for the American army alone "within a short time," it was stated. Furthermore, "the illness are depending on us to supplement their own nursing services."

There are approximately 30,000 registered nurses in the United States today. Of these 15,000 are enrolled in the Red Cross; of whom a majority are in active service, ready for mobilization or prepared for specific service. It was stated.

HEALTH TALKS
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

A Critic of Eugenics
Letter from a reader:
There is an excellent reason why it would be useless for a young woman to demand a health certificate from her fiancé. Health certificates signify nothing as to character, and marriage should be based on character and not on health. A man may be guilty of misconduct frequently, yet escape disease through a knowledge of prophylaxis. A woman may think she is marrying a man of morals and fidelity, and she may be deceived.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Sacro-Iliac Strain
Sitting down or getting up causes sharp pain in lower part of spine. If I lie on my back I can hardly turn over in bed because of the pain it brings on low in the back. Is this indicative of spinal trouble? (Mrs. T. P.)

ANSWER.—No. It rather suggests relaxation and strain of the sacro-iliac joint (between a wing of hip bone and base of spine). Ask your doctor to apply a plaster straddle. Be sure mattress and springs do not sag under weight of the body. Sagging beds cause spinal trouble. Do not advise an operation. Is there any other cure than surgery?

CHAPTER I.

"A Person Named Elisha Warren."

"STABLE!" screamed the brakeman, opening the car door and yelling his loudest, so as to be heard above the rattle of the train and the shriek of the wind. "Ostable!"

The brakeman's cap was soured, his hair was plastered down on his forehead, and in the yellow light from the car lamps his wet nose glistened as he vanished. The windows streamed as each succeeding gust flung its miniature freshest against them.

The passengers in the car did not seem greatly interested in the brakeman's announcement. The red-faced person in the seat nearest the rear slept soundly, as he had done for the last hour and a half. He had boarded the train at Brockton and after requesting the conductor not to "lump him" by Bayport, B.H., at first favored his fellow travelers with a song and then sank into slumber.

Mr. Atwood Graves, junior partner in the New York firm of Sylvester, Kuhn & Graves, lawyers, stirred uneasily on the lumpy plush cushion, looked at his watch, then at the time table in his hand, noted that the train was now seventy-two minutes late and for at least the fifteenth time mentally cursed the railway company, the whole of Cape Cod from Sandwich to Provincetown and the fates which had brought him there.

The train slowed down in a jerky, hiccup sort of way and crept on till the car in which Mr. Graves was seated was abreast the lighted windows of a small station, where it stopped. Peering through the water-streaked pane at the end of his seat, the lawyer saw dim silhouettes of uncertain outline moving about. They moved with provoking slowness.

Then, behind the door which the brakeman, after announcing the station, had closed again, sounded a big laugh. The heartiness of it grated on Mr. Graves' nerves. What idiot could laugh on such a night as this aboard a train over an hour late?

The laugh was repeated. Then the door was flung briskly open, and a man entered the car. He was a big man, broad shouldered, inclined to stoutness, wearing a cloth cap with a visor and a heavy ulster, the collar of which was turned up. Through the gap between the open ends of the collar bristled a short gray beard. The face above the beard and below the visor was unburned, with little wrinkles about the eyes and curving lines from the nostrils to the corners of the mouth. The upper lip was shaved, and the eyebrows were heavy and grayish black. Cap, face and ulster were dripping with water.

"Well, I tell you, Ezra," he called over his shoulder. "If it's too deep to wade maybe I can swim. But floats, they tell me, and Abbie says I'm getting flustered every day. So long."

He closed the door and, smiling broadly, swung down the aisle.

"Tello, cap'n!" cried one passenger. "What's the south shore doin' over here in this flood?"

"What's the matter, cap'n?" demanded another. "Broke loose from your moorin's, have you? Did you ever see such a night in your life?"

The man in the ulster shook hands with each of his questioners, removing a pair of wet, heavy leather gloves as he did so.

"Don't know's I ever did, Dan," he answered. "Couldn't see much of this one but its color, and that's black. I come over this mornin' to attend to some business at the courthouse—deeds to some cranberry bog property I just bought—and Judge Baxter made me go home with him to dinner. Stayed at his house all the afternoon, and then his man, Ezra Hallett, undertook to drive me up here to the depot. Talk about blind pilot! Whew! The judge's horse was a new one, not used to the roads; Ezra's near-sighted, and I couldn't use my glasses 'count of the rain. Let alone that, 'twas darker'n the fore noon of noon's ark. No, no! Sometimes we was in the ruts, and sometimes we was in the bushes. I told Ez we'd ought to have fetched along a dipsy lead, then maybe we could get our bearings by soundin'.

"Couldn't see 'em if we did get 'em," says he. "No," says I, "but we could taste 'em. Man that's driven through as much Ostable mud as you have ought to know the taste of every road in town."

"Well, you caught the train anyhow," observed Dan.

"Yup. If we'd been crippled as well as blind we could have done that." He seated himself just in front of the man and glanced across the aisle at Mr. Graves, to find the latter looking intently at him.

"Pretty tough night," he remarked, nodding.

"Yes," replied the lawyer briefly. He did not encourage conversation with casual acquaintances. The latest arrival had caught his attention because there was something familiar about him. He must have seen him before.

Conversation across the aisle was brisk, and its subjects were many and varied. Mr. Graves became aware, more or less against his will, that the person called "cap'n" was, if not a leader in politics and local affairs, still one whose opinions counted. Some of those opinions as given were pointed and dryly descriptive—as, for instance, when a certain town meeting candidate was compared to a sculpin, "with a big head that sort of impresses you 'till you get close enough to realize it has to be big to make room for so much mouth."

The conductor entered the car and stopped to collect a ticket from his new passenger. It was evident that he, too, was acquainted with the latter.

"Evening, cap'n," he said politely. "Train's a little late tonight."

"It is for tonight's train," was the prompt response, "but if it keeps on at the rate it's travelin' now it'll be a little early for tomorrow mornin's, won't it?"

The conductor laughed. "Guess you're right," he said. "This is about as wet a storm as I've run through since I've been on the road."

The brakeman swung open the door to shout: "Denboro! Denboro!" The conductor picked up his lantern and hurried away, the locomotive whistled hoarsely, and the train hiccupped alongside another little station. Mr. Graves, peering through his window, imagined that here the silhouettes on the platform moved more briskly. They seemed almost excited. He inferred that Denboro was a bigger and more wide awake village than Ostable.

But he was mistaken. The reason for the excitement was made plain by the conductor a moment afterward. That official entered the car, removed his uniform cap and rubbed a wet forehead with a wetter hand.

"Well, gentlemen," he said, "I've been expecting it, and here it is. Mark me down as a good prophet, will you? There's a washout a mile farther on and a telegraph pole across the track. It's blowing great guns and raining pitchforks. It'll be out of the question for us to go forward before daylight, if then. Darn a railroad man's job anyhow!"

Five minutes later Mr. Graves descended the steps of the car, his traveling bag in one hand and an umbrella in the other. As soon as both feet were securely planted on the platform he put down the bag to wrestle with the umbrella and the hurricane, which was apparently blowing from four directions at once. Feeling his hat leaving his head, he became aware that the umbrella had turned inside out. He threw the wreck violently under the train and stooped to pick up the bag. The bag was no longer there.

"It's all right," said a calm voice behind him. "I've got your satchel, neighbor. Better beat for harbor, hadn't we? Here—this way."

The bewildered New Yorker felt his arm seized in a firm grip, and he was rushed across the platform, through a deluge of wind driven water, and into a small, hot, close smelling waiting room. When he pushed his hat clear of his eyes he saw that his rescuer was the big man who boarded the train at Ostable.

"Dirty weather, hey?" he observed pleasantly. "Sorry your umbrella had to go by the board. I see you was carryin' too much canvas and tried to run alongside in time to give you a tow, but you was dismasted just as I got there. Here's your dunnage, all safe and sound."

He extended the traveling bag at arm's length. Mr. Graves accepted his property and murmured thanks, not too cordially.

"Well," went on his companion, "here we are! And I for one wanted to be somewhere else. Caleb," turning to the station master, who came in at that moment, "any way of my gettin' home tonight?"

"I don't know, cap'n," was the answer. "I don't know of any. Guess you'll have to put up at the hotel and wait till mornin'."

"I'm hooked for South Denboro, and that's the whole seven miles off. I'd swim the whole seven rather than put up at Sim Titcomb's hotel. I've been there afore, thank you! Look here, Caleb, can't I hire a team and drive over?"

"Well, I don't know. S'pose you might ring up Peter Shattuck and ask him. He's pretty particular about his horses, though, and I cal'te be."

"All right. I'll ring him up. Pete ought to get over some of his particularness to oblige me. I've helped him once or twice."

"Excuse me, sir," said the lawyer. "Did I understand you to say you were going to South Denboro?"

"Yes, I am if the powers and Pete Shattuck'll let me."

"You were going to drive over? May I go with you? I'm very anxious to get to South Denboro tonight. I have some very important business there, and I want to complete it and get away tomorrow. I must be back in New York by the morning following."

"Well, I don't know, Mr.—"

"Graves is my name."

"I don't know, Mr. Graves. This ain't goin' to be a pleasure cruise exactly. You might get pretty wet."

"I don't care. I can get dry again when I get there. Of course I shall share the expense of the livery. I shall be greatly obliged if I may go with you. If not, I must try for a rig myself."

"Oh, if you feel that way about it, why, come ahead and welcome. I was only warnin' you, that's all. However, with me aboard for ballast, I guess we won't blow away. Wait a jiffy till I get after Pete."

He entered the ticket office and raised a big hand to the little crank of the telephone bell.

"Let's see, Caleb," he called, "what's Shattuck's number?"

"For fear of a cold!" he said, and draped it about the little figure. "Now, how is that?"

"It is very comfortable. May I put my head back?"

Long, long years since the chancellor had sat thus, with a child in his arms. His sturdy old arms encircled the boy closely.

"I want to tell about running away," said the king, wide-eyed in the dusk. "I am sorry. This time I am going to promise not to do it again."

"Make the promise to yourself, majesty. It is the best way."

"I will. I intend to be a very good king."

"God grant it, majesty."

"Like Abraham Lincoln?"

"Like Abraham Lincoln," said the chancellor gravely.

The king, for all his boasted wakefulness, yawned again, and squirmed closer to the old man's breast.

"And like my grandfather," he added.

"God grant that, also."

This time it was the chancellor who yawned, a yawn that was half a sigh. He was very weary, and very sad.

Suddenly, after a silence, the king spoke: "May a king do anything he wants?"

"Not at all," said the chancellor hastily.

"But, if it will not hurt the people? I want to do two things, or have two things. They are both quite easy."

His tone was anxious.

"What are they?"

"You wouldn't like to promise first, would you?"

The chancellor smiled in the darkness.

"Good strategy, but I am an old soldier, majesty. What are they?"

"First, I would like to have a dog; one to keep with me."

"I—probably that can be arranged."

"Thank you. I do want a dog. And—" he hesitated.

"Yes, majesty?"

"I am very fond of Nippy," said the king. "And he is not very happy. He looks sad, sometimes. I—I would like him to marry Hedwig, so we can all be together the rest of our lives."

The chancellor hesitated. But, after all, why not? He had followed ambition all his life, and where had it brought him? An old man, whose only happiness lay in this child in his arms.

"Perhaps," he said gently, "that can be arranged also."

The night air blew softly through the open windows. The little king smiled, contentedly, and closed his eyes.

"I'm getting rather sleepy," he said. "But if I'm not too heavy, I'd like you to hold me a little longer."

"You are not too heavy, majesty."

Soon the chancellor, worn not with one day, but with many, was nodding.

Dinner Stories

A young Burnly weaver, according to an English paper, was taking her little baby to church to be christened. Its father had been in the trenches for three months and it was nervous.

"I want to tell about running away," said the king, wide-eyed in the dusk. "I am sorry. This time I am going to promise not to do it again."

"Make the promise to yourself, majesty. It is the best way."

"I will. I intend to be a very good king."

"God grant it, majesty."

"Like Abraham Lincoln?"

"Like Abraham Lincoln," said the chancellor gravely.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—is a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and its place.

Most headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Gave Her Delicate Child Vinol

It Built Him Up and Made Him Strong

Newspaper, March 4.—"My little boy was in a delicate, weak, emaciated condition and had a cough so we had to keep him out of school for a year. Nothing seemed to help him until Vinol was recommended, and the change it made in him was remarkable. It has built him up and made him strong so his cough is almost entirely gone. We can not recommend Vinol too highly."—Mrs. E. N. Hanton.

Mothers of weak, delicate, ailing children are asked to try this famous cod liver and iron tonic on our guarantee. "Children love to take it."

South Day Co., Janesville, Wis. Vinol is sold in free bottles by Mr. J. Smith and at the best drug store in every town and city in the country.

WOMEN ARE NEEDED TO HELP IN WAR

Women can be usefully employed in nursing the wounded, in making up the soldiers' kits, and in a thousand other ways. Many American women are weak, pale or anemic from woman's ills. For young girls just entering womanhood, for women at the critical time, nursing mothers and every woman who is "run-down," tired or over-worked, Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a special, safe and certain help. It can now be had in tablet form for 60 cents. All druggists.

Sent Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c. for trial package tablets.

very highly."—Mrs. C. M. HAINARD, 120 State Street.

GREEN RAY, Wis.—"Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a splendid medicine. I have used it in my family for many years for coughs, colds, and other ailments, and it gives perfect satisfaction. Knowing what it has done for us, I can highly recommend it."—Mrs. Ed. BARNES, 421 Fifth Street.

Fiery Irritations of the Skin Show Your Blood Needs Purifying

A Sluggish, Clogged-Up Circulation Causes Skin Eruptions.

Eczema is called a skin disease because the disease set up their colony on some portion of the skin's surface, and here spread their irritation that soon begins to burn like flames of fire.

There are other forms of so-called diseases of skin, such as tetters, boils, pimples, acne, erysipelas, scaly eruptions, blotches and rough irritations, that are a source of much pain and annoyance.

And, while these disorders are generally referred to as skin diseases, they are really traceable to a disordered condition of the blood, and they are never experienced by anyone whose blood is free from impurities. If you are a victim of any form of these painful and irritating disorders of the skin, causing, as they do, such constant annoyance, you cannot expect any real benefit from local treatment—no ointments, salves, or lotions, that cannot reach below the surface. If your case needs special medical advice, it can be had without cost by writing to Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 83 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

You are simply postponing a cure

His eyes closed under his fierce eyebrows. Finally they both slept. The room was silent.

Something slipped out of the little king's hand and rolled to the floor.

It was the box containing the Little King's penny.

If Eatonic Fails You Lose Not A Single Penny

For I Personally Guarantee and Will Pay for a 50c Box If Eatonic Tablets Do Not Quickly Remove Every Trace of Indigestion, Heartburn and Sour Stomach.

H. L. KRAMER.

STOMACH WEAKNESS

I, H. L. Kramer, am the man who gave Cascarets to the world. I now make public announcement of my latest success, EATONIC Tablets, for the benefit of the millions who are suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach ills, unaware that a great modern remedy has been discovered to prevent them.

The knowledge of what EATONIC is doing will be good news to a great many people—probably ten out of every dozen—who suffer needlessly from stomach weakness in some form. By using EATONIC Tablets regularly after meals, they can now find easy escape from their troubles.

Druggists all over the country say that EATONIC is proving even a greater success than my first great remedy. Results in thousands of cases prove that dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, painful bloating, nausea, fullness after meals, belching of gas, etc., quickly disappear with the use of EATONIC Tablets after meals.

The peculiar virtue of EATONIC is in its remarkable power to almost instantly neutralize the excess acids that cause gases to collect in the stomach and disorder the digestive processes. By thus removing the cause of stomach trouble, the painful, disagreeable effects naturally disappear.

My own confidence in EATONIC Tablets is without limit. I am so absolutely convinced of their marvelous power that I do not hesitate to urge a trial by every man or woman who experiences the distressing, painful and frequently dangerous effects of a bad stomach.

In fact, I regard it as my duty to utilize to the fullest degree my personal influence, as the responsible originator of EATONIC Tablets, to induce a widespread use of this modern stomach reliever. To my mind, the big, important step is the trial test, for my experience proves that the very first box of EATONIC Tablets invariably convinces any one that indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating, flatulence and sour, gassy stomach are no longer necessary, even after the heaviest meals.

Therefore, I make this guaranteed offer: Buy a large box of EATONIC Tablets from any drug store. Take it according to the simple directions. If you are not fully convinced that EATONIC is, indeed, the marvelous digestive aid that thousands claim for it, just send me the empty carton—addressed, H. L. Kramer, 1813 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, and I will at once send you the money you paid the druggist.

Could I give you stronger proof of my absolute faith in EATONIC Tablets? Can you in fairness to yourself, refuse the proof of the merits of EATONIC at its risk, and refuse to get rid of your stomach miseries? I could emphasize my words—make my advice stronger—I would do so, because I am intensely earnest when I tell you that EATONIC Tablets—and they alone—are the final and perfect solution of the "Great American Misery"—Bad Stomachs.

Don't doubt—don't question or quibble—BUT ACT! For your stomach's sake—for comfort, health and success in life—make a start with EATONIC Tablets today and begin to realize what a good stomach means to you. Advertisement.

Dear Sir:—
Less than a year ago I sent to you for an appliance which came promptly. I at once put it on and it fitted perfectly. I have worn the appliance a little over four months. It has cured my rupture.

I tried the other day while the appliance was off to see if I could force anything out of the opening to make a break there, but I could not though I tried hard. Now I think this quite remarkable as I am an old veteran of the Civil War, born and raised in the town of New Boston, State of New Hampshire, from which place I enlisted in the 10th N. H. Vol. Inf. in Company C, commanded by Col. M. R. Dunning.

I cannot say but that I now you this testimony for I had never expected to be cured. However, thanks be to God I found a cure through the valuable Appliance you made for me.

It seems nearly impossible, but I have gone through a summer's work on a farm without one and have not been troubled.
I was born ruptured and never wore a truss until I was 21 years of age and got your appliance. If I ever need another one I shall send in my order.
Yours truly,
BARNES OSKINS,
R. F. D. No. 7.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Send for the Brooks Rupture Appliance.

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that inventors have sought after for years.

Cured Without Operation

"Was Sure He Would Be a Cripple"
Ada, Minn.
Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—
Enclosed is a picture of my children, and the little man you see seated on the chair is the one who was cured by your Appliance.
He had been ruptured quite a while before we wrote you, and I was sure that he would be a cripple the rest of his life. However, some helping hand showed me on ad in a newspaper, with the result that he was in perfect health through the wearing of a Brooks Appliance for just three months.

The doctor advised an operation, which I would not consent to. Your advice was to put an Air Cushion Appliance on him, and I must say that it is worth ten times what it cost.
I wish you could have seen him before we used the Appliance and now, when he is fully as sound as anyone could be.
I cannot thank you too much for what you have done for my boy.
Yours respectfully,
OLIVER HANSON.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—
Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it until I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on; it has adapted itself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body, as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.
It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture. It all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly never regret it.
My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I will say a good word for your Appliance and also the honorable way in which you deal with ruptured people. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers, I am,
Yours very sincerely,
JAMES A. BRITTON,
80 Spring St., Bethlehem, Pa.

Brings Instant Relief, Perfect Safety and Everlasting Comfort

The Brooks Rupture Appliance is beyond question the most universally endorsed appliance of any kind in the world for the retention and cure of a ruptured condition in men, women and children. It is the result of more than 30 years' experience and the percentage of actual cures effected by its use is a little short of miraculous.
The Brooks Appliance has so many imitations, that it is never sold in drug stores, or in any other way than by mail, direct from the maker. This is further necessary because every Brooks Appliance is especially made and fitted for the case for which it is intended.
Many hundreds of Physicians and Surgeons recommend the Brooks Appliance and condemn trusses as more harmful than almost any other method of retaining or treating rupture.
You may not think that a rupture appliance can ever be truly "comfortable"—but that is because you have never tried Brooks'.

Others Failed, But the Appliance Cured

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—
Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy, and more, for it cured him sound and snug. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We have tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you.
Yours respectfully,
WM. PATTERSON,
No. 717 S. Main St., Akron, O.

Doctor Said "Operation"

Artesia, Ariz.
Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—
I received your Appliance and have used it. It has done the work you guaranteed it to do.
It is too cheap at the price.
The doctor said that he, or any other doctor, couldn't cure the rupture without an operation, but the Brooks Rupture Appliance did. I remain as ever,
ALDO R. ALLRED.
